In-Career Development Course 2006: A Space to Grow

A five day summer in-career development course for primary school teachers, approved by the Department of Education & Science and running from 3 to 7 July and repeated from 21 to 25 August. The fee for the course is €60.00. The course introduces teachers to IMMA as a learning resource and provides opportunities to experience IMMA's artworks and meet and work with artists in IMMA's studios.

For further information on these programmes and other primary school projects and events, please contact Mark Maguire, Project Worker: Children's Programmes, Education and Community Department, IMMA, tel: 01 612 9914, email: mark.maguire@imma.ie.

Focus On...

Focus On... is tailored to meet the needs of specific groups. This free programme comprises a maximum of six sessions and can involve a combination of gallery visits, guided tours, workshops, talks and discussions, and studio visits.

Studio 10

Older people are invited to attend this 'drop in' programme on Friday mornings between September and May each year. This programme is facilitated by artists from the Artists' Panel and members of the Mediator team. Participants are invited to explore contemporary art by looking at and discussing work in the gallery spaces and making work in the studios. No booking or regular attendance is required.

Charcoal & Chocolate: Exploring Contemporary Art through Drawing

This programme invites adults to explore contemporary art through the medium of drawing. Each four-week block between February and May is led by a professional artist. Participants are invited to visit the Museum's gallery spaces with the artist to look at, and discuss, various artworks, and also to spend time in the studios drawing.

Bealtaine Festival May 06

During the month of May, the Museum will programme events in collaboration with Age and Opportunity and other cultural institutions as part of the annual Bealtaine Festival. For details of the overall Bealtaine Festival programme, please contact Age and Opportunity, tel: 01 805 7709, email: bealtaine@mie.ie.

Drawing Day

Saturday 20 May, 10:00am – 4:00pm

In association with the National Gallery of Ireland, IMMA will host a number of drop in workshops and gallery visits for both adults and children focusing on drawing. There is no fee and no booking is required.

For details, please contact Lisa Moran, Curator: Education and Community Department, IMMA tel: 01 612 9912, email: lisa.moran@imma.ie.

Talks and Lectures

The Irish Museum of Modern Art's regular series of talks and lectures gives the general public and targeted audiences a unique opportunity to meet and interact with a cross section of artists, curators and specialists. The Museum aims to present a broad range of talks and lectures reflecting and debating the Museum's diverse programme of temporary exhibitions, the Collection and aspects of the Education and Community Programme. A detailed brochure outlining the current programme is available from the main information desk.

For further information on the Talks and Lectures Programme, please contact Aoife Ruane, Assistant Curator: Education and Community Department, IMMA, tel: 01- 6129913, email: aoife.ruane@imma.ie

national programme

The National Programme is designed to make the Museum's assets, skills and resources available in a variety of situations and locations in Ireland. Using the IMMA Collection, the National Programme facilitates the creation of exhibitions and other projects for display in a range of locations around the country.

6 – 14 May | Casadh an Chéid

Féile na Bealtaine, An Daingean, Co Chiarraí

This exhibition aims to build on the longstanding relationship between Féile na Bealtaine, IMMA and the Courthouse Studios, An Daingean. Casadh an Chéid will coincide with the H2O Symposium and focus on work by Irish artists such as Clare Langan, Isabel Nolan and Kathy Prendergast.

13 May | H2O Symposium

An Daingean Courthouse, An Daingean, Co Chiarraí

The symposium will launch the H2O project, the purpose of which is to exchange the experience of art making in a peripheral location vis à vis the cultural centre and to forge lasting links between three artists groups; North Norwegian Artists Union, Norway; Twozywo group, Warsaw, Poland and Courthouse Studios, An Daingean. Artists and curators from the three countries will participate in a series of seminars, talks and other events. The symposium is supported by Údaras na Gaeltachta.

25 May – 5 June | Fire and Celebration

Iniscealtra Festival of the Arts, St Caimins Church of Ireland, Mountshannon and Scariff, Co Clare

Based on the theme of fire the exhibition will include work by Hughie O'Donoghue, Denis Oppenheim and Patrick Scott. Individual works from the IMMA Collection will also be placed in three venues in Scariff. In response to the exhibition, workshops will be facilitated by Clare-based artists Nicola Henley and Jane Seymour aimed at national school children from the East Clare area. The Education and Community programme is supported by the Department of Education and Science.

9 June - 2 Sept | Selected work from the Musgrave-Kinley Outsider Art Collection

Draíocht, Blanchardstown, Co Dublin

This exhibition samples a selection of work from the Musgrave-Kinley Outsider Art Collection which brings together work by artists who are often quite unknown and who work in non-mainstream contexts, creating their work in private and sometimes institutionalised environments while rarely being aware of art historical movements, theories or contemporary art practice. The exhibition includes work by artists such as Madge Gill and Pearl Alcock and coincides with the Inner Worlds Outside exhibition in IMMA.

July | Ghost

Basement Gallery, Dundalk, Co Louth

The exhibition will include work by Irish and international artists such as Janine Antoni, Dorothy Cross and Paul Winstanley. It will be accompanied by an Education and Community Programme supported by the Department of Education and Science.

For further information on any aspect of the National Programme, please contact Johanne Mullan, National Programmer, IMMA, tel: 01 612 9909, email: nat.programme@imma.ie

The Irish Museum of Modern Art is Ireland's leading national institution for the collection and presentation of modern and contemporary art.

The Museum's mission is to foster within society an awareness, understanding and involvement in the visual arts through policies and programmes which are excellent, innovative and inclusive. The Museum presents a wide variety of art in a dynamic programme of exhibitions, which regularly includes bodies of work from its own Collection and its award-winning Education and Community Department. It also creates more widespread access to art and artists through its Studio and National programmes.

The Museum is housed in the magnificent 17th-century Royal Hospital building, whose grounds include a formal garden, meadow and medieval burial grounds.

Orla Barry: Portable Stones and Other Works

This exhibition by the highly-regarded Irish artist Orla Barry includes a major new film work, Portable Stones, 2005, being shown for the first time in Ireland. The exhibition also presents a number of the artist's other well known works, alongside some less familiar pieces, and brings together the most wide-ranging selection of Barry's work ever shown in Ireland.

The exhibition is a collaboration with Stedelijik Museum Voor Actuele Kunst, (S.M.A.K), Gent, Belgium. It has also toured to the Camden Arts Centre, London.

A catalogue accompanies the exhibition (price €20.00).

Magnum Ireland

Magnum Ireland includes more than 140 photographs taken in Ireland since the 1950s by some of the world's leading photographers, including Henri Cartier-Bresson, Elliott Erwitt, Martin Parr, Josef Koudelka, Inge Morath, Erich Lessing and Eve Arnold, all members of Magnum Photos international co-operative of independent photographers. The exhibition presents an evocative and arresting visual history of Ireland, North and South, with particular emphasis on the strong influence of rural life in the earlier decades, the Northern Troubles of the 1970s and '80s, and the rapidly-growing confidence and prosperity of the past decade. Many of the images have not been seen before.

Barry Flanagan: Sculpture 1965 - 2005

This exhibition, of some 50 works, is a comprehensive survey of the work of the highly-regarded British sculptor Barry Flanagan. It comprises installation works and bronze sculptures from the 1960s to the present, some of which are being shown in the grounds of the Museum. Flanagan is best known for his dynamic, often monumental, bronze hares, which he began casting in 1979. His work is held in public collections worldwide and his bronze hares have been exhibited in many outdoor spaces, most notably on Park Avenue, New York, and at Grant Park, Chicago. This exhibition coincides with the display of 10 large bronze sculptures in O'Connell Street, Dublin, organised by Dublin City Gallery The Hugh Lane.

The exhibition is organised in association with Dublin City Gallery The Hugh Lane.

The exhibition is presented in association with 'THE BEST TIMES'

An illustrated catalogue accompanies the exhibition.

Candida Höfer: Dublin

Comprising some 10 works, this is the first solo exhibition in Ireland by the internationally-renowned German artist Candida Höfer. Her un-peopled interiors describe a selection of formal, public and cultural spaces, including palaces, libraries and museums, in cities such as Paris, Venice, Prague and New York. This exhibition presents work made while visiting Dublin in 2004, including photographs taken at the National Library of Ireland, Marsh's Library, the Long Room in the Old Library of Trinity College and the Great Hall and Chapel of the Royal Hospital Kilmainham.

The exhibition is supported by the Institut für Auslandsbeziehungen e. V.

João Penalva

The first solo exhibition in Ireland, by the Portuguese artist João Penalva comprises approximately 20 works, including a selection of video and installation pieces and a new work created specifically for IMMA. Penalva's practice encompasses painting, installation, performance and video, and is often process-based, employing collection, detection, analysis, translation and documentation. Influenced by Jasper Johns, Robert Rauschenberg and Joseph Beuys, he has been engaged in the visual arts since the 1970s.

The exhibition is organised in association with the Serralves Museum of Contemporary Art, Porto, Portugal, and the Ludwig Museum, Budapest, where it has already been shown.

The exhibition is supported by the Instituto Camões of Portugal.

Irish Art of the Seventies

Irish Art of the Seventies draws on existing works in the Museum's Collection and new acquisitions from the PJ Carroll Collection. One of the formative influences in the development of the visual arts in Ireland, the PJ Carroll Collection is widely regarded as a pre-eminent collection of Irish art of the 1960s and '70s, providing vital support for many leading artists at a time when general interest in the visual arts was still quite limited.

This exhibition focuses on important historic works by artists such as Felim Egan, Robert Ballagh, Gerda Fromel, Maria Simonds-Gooding, Michael Warren and Michael Coleman.

The exhibition will be shown at the Crawford Gallery, Cork in 2007.

An exhibition guide accompanies the exhibition.

Louis le Brocqy: A Celebration of the Artist's Ninetieth Year

This special display by the distinguished Irish artist Louis le Brocqy is being shown to celebrate the artist's 90th year. It presents seven emblematic works selected in collaboration with the artist. The works represent the artist's Grey Period and also his Presence, Procession and Human Image series and together constitute an excellent representation of his lifelong concerns and achievements as an artist.

A publication accompanies the exhibition.

Inner Worlds Outside

Inner Worlds Outside brings together works by established mainstream artists and Outsider artists - individuals producing from the "fringes of society". The exhibition aims to question the problematic distinction between Insider and Outsider Art by exploring the parallels between them as well as the impact of some Outsider artists on major figures of twentieth century art. The exhibition comprises some 140 works by Insiders such as James Ensor, Philip Guston, Henri Rousseau and Outsiders such as Henry Darger, Madge Gill and Adolf Wölfli. It draws on selected work from the Musgrave Kinley Outsider Art Collection, which is on loan to the Irish Museum of Modern Art, as

GREAT HALL

INITIALS by James Coleman

This is the first showing in Ireland of the slide-tape installation I N I T I A L S, 1993-1994, by the highly-acclaimed Irish artist James Coleman. This work forms part of a trilogy of his most important works from the 1990s, acquired through funding from the Heritage Committee of the National Cultural Institutions in 2004. Born in Co Roscommon in 1941, James Coleman has worked in multimedia and film for more than 30 years, and pioneered the use of the "slide-tape" format (multiple transparencies projected with synchronised audio tape). Although widely recognised abroad as one of the outstanding artists working with new media, Coleman's work has not had major exposure in his homeland. This installation, the first in a series to be shown at IMMA, hopes to redress this.
